

Executive Functioning Success

Workshop/Professional Development

Do you or someone you know struggle with executive functions? Lack of executive functions are often mistaken for laziness, when the culprit is really a lack of skill. Often these individuals are visual learners who lack an internal sense of time, struggle to stay organized, miss deadlines, are chronically late, and struggle to meet goals.

Attend this course and:

- ✓ Gain understanding of executive functions and the brain
- ✓ Begin using metacognition
- ✓ Learn visual strategies to plan days, weeks, months
- ✓ Apply organizational strategies
- ✓ Learn how to structure your environment
- ✓ Identify attributes of successful learners
- ✓ Meet deadlines and reduce stress

Who is this for:

- Professionals
- Teachers and parents who would like to help children (5th grade and up)
- High school and college students

NEW!

On-line classes are available!

This class meets on-line or in-person for a total of 8 contact hours. There are required readings and activities assigned between classes.

Individual Course Registration Fee: $475 (Group discounts available for 3 or more)

Credit: 1 credit is available for purchase through Marian University. Fees for continuing education credit are not included in your course registration fee.

Register: by phone (262) 226-9284 or by email, ksteinke@readlearningservices.com.

Instructor: Kelly Steinke, M.A.Ed., NBCT

*Please email or call with questions or to request a syllabus.

